The Line of March Will Probably Remain as at First Decided Upon.

OUR PHYSICIANS TO THE FRONT.

They Will Render Surgical Aid to the Unfortunate During the Reunion-No Obstacles Can Keep the Righ-School Boys Awny.

Major Norman V. Randolph, in selecting the line of march, did so with a view to the comfort of the old veterans, many of them crippled, and decided that the route should be a short one, and that no hills should be climbed. The official programme of the parade has already been issued, and from what can be learned, Major Randolph has no idea of changing the line of march.

The Main-street merchants are anxious for the parade to pass on that thoroughfare, and some of them have approached President Hawes, of the Chamber of Commerce, with a view to having a meeting of that body called to ask the Committee of Arrangements to change the route. STAFF OF SURGEONS.

ollowing surgeons will compose the staff to attend veterans and visitors who may need their services during the remay need their services during the reunion: Drs. Deas, Carrington, Harrison

And Virginia Navigation Company will bil tickets to Richmond for the reunion the rate of one fare for the round up, commencing June 2th. These tickets ill not be on sale after July 2d, and the limited to ten days from date of sale.

HIGH-SCHOOL BOYS. TO THE BATTLE-FIELDS.

are limited to ten days from date of sale.

HIGH-SCHOOL BOYS.

To the music, very probably, of Sousa's famous march, "The High-School Cadets," the lads from the national capital will march in the sreat parade on July 2d. The High School Cadets are the pets of Washington, and are as fine a body of young soldiers as one would wish to look upon. The Grand Army men, it is understood, raised some objection to the boys coming on here, as the authorities had prohibited the cadets participating in the parade in the national capital on Decoration-Day.

The sentiment, however, among the great mass of people in Washington was in favor of the school boys attending the reunion, and so the officials, in spite of many obstacles, at last arranged everything, and the lads will be with us on this occasion.

be largely attended. The Auditorium will then be thrown open for the first time to the public. The entertainment is for the benefit of the ice-water fund, and is under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans. Adjutant-General Francis H. Cameron. of North Carolina, has written for a programme of the ceremonies to be observed at the laying of the Davis monument cornerstone, stating that it is the intention and desire of Governor Carr to be present with his staff on that occasion.

Everything will be in readiness at the Expesition-Grounds by Saturday night for the reception of the Confederate Veterans. The work of puttings things in shape is far advanced. General Wise was arranging yesterday to have the six towers of the buildings decorated.

The badges of the Daughters of the Confederacy have been received at 512 east Grace street. It is to be remembered that admission by badges is the rule for the receiption, as the entertainments are for the veterans and the memorial associations, and not for the public.

The cadets from the Virginia Military Institute will roach here Saturday evening. They will be met at the Eighthstreet station of the Chespeake and Ohio road by the Elues and escorted to the grounds of Richmond College, where they will make their camp.

Arthur Rose, the negro who shot at and narrowly missed Clarence Pleasants, was fined $6 by Justice Crutchfield in the Police Court yesterday morning, and also sent to isil for a term of twelve months.

Lee King and Oscar Johnson (colored) and Leo Lee, a white man, were all charged with breaking into one of the Chesapeake and Ohio cars and stealing $80 pounds of lead. Lee King is the owner of the wagon in which the lead was transported and found, but it was proven that he had hired the wagon, and his previous character convinced Justice Crutchfield that he was entirely in ignorance as to what purpose his vehicle was to be used. Oscar Johnson and Leo Lee were found with the wagon, and their cases were sent on to the grand jury. The officers are still in pursuit of James Gibbs, another white man who is thought to have been connected in the robbery.

The case of Calvin Williams was continued until July 4th. Williams was cantinued until July 4th. Williams was arrested a few days since as a suspicious character. He was discharged and rearrested at the request of Mr. John Finegan, a Chesterfield farmer. Recently Mr. Finegan's house was robbed. He suspected Williams, and seeing him on the streets of this city had him arrested.

An Exciting Runaway.

Quite an exciting runaway occurred on Broad street yesterday morning when a horse attached to the buggy of a Mainstreet merchant became frightened and dashed off down Broad street at breakneek speed, making his way in and out among vehicles and electric poles in a surprising manner. Arriving at the corner of Broad and Mayo, the borse dashed into a pole and demolshed the buggy; but not to be stopped by a little thing like this, he broke from the harness and continued on his mad career. Strange to say, the horse escaped unhurt. Outlet an exciting fundaming when a morning when a

NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 24.-(Spe-NEW HAVEN, CONN., June 24.—(Special.)—All Yale burst into tumultuous applause this afternoon at a speech of antisectional character made by Wallace Bruce, 1867 ex-American Consul to Glasgow. Mr. Bruce was a Union man, and his class contained a score of old Federal soldiers, but his sentiments were universally applauded as truly Yalesian. Aproposof the attack of Rev. Dr. Twichell on the idea of the Yale seniors planting their class lay from General Robert Lee's tomb, Wallace Bruce said:

A SUGGESTION.

'I have a slight suggestion to make. Let us take the ivy that is growing over the grave of Theodore Winthrose, one of the first Yale men to fall for the Union cause, and put it beside the sprig that was planted by the Yale graduating class yesterday from the grave of General Robert E. Lee. There is no sectionalism in old Yale. Let the two lyies grow together as this nation will grow in all the centuries to come."

WILL BE ADOPTED.
